

Personal Sampling

Personal sampling is a measurement of employee exposure taken in the employee's breathing zone.

Breathing Zone

Personal air samples should represent the air the employee breathes. Position the sample media (air intake point) in the breathing zone, the hemisphere forward of the shoulders with a radius of approximately six to nine inches and centered on the employee's nose.